

Victorian
Public Sector Commission

1. Introduction

The Handbook is managed by the Victorian Public Sector Commission and questions about its contents should be directed to us.

For remuneration advice, speak with the Victorian Independence Remuneration Tribunal.

1.1 Handbook (the Handbook)

This document provides the policy framework for employing executives under the Public Administration Act 2004 (the PAA).

1.2 What is the Handbook?

The Handbook will:

- assist public service bodies to manage employment contracts, remuneration and employment matters relating to executives;
- inform executives, or those contemplating executive employment, about working conditions in the public service;
- provide guidance to executives and employers in the public service on executive employment and remuneration policy standards.

1.3 How to Use this Handbook

The interpretation of this Handbook is subject to an individual executive's contract. If there is inconsistency between an individual contract and information contained in this Handbook, the contract takes precedence. It should be read in conjunction with the PAA and the executive employment contract. The Handbook does not form part of an Executive's contract.

Employers

This Handbook will help employers with policies that are relevant to executive employment in the public service.

Employers should seek information relating to tax matters from the Australian Tax Office (ATO) or another expert advisor.

Executives

This Handbook sets out executive employment arrangements. It also explains the benefits of working in the public service.

It is important that executives are aware of what is available and make use of their entitlements.

The public service places emphasis on work/life balance, achieving personal/professional development, and preparing for the future. Have a look at the information contained in this Handbook and also discuss matters with your human resources unit.

Executives should seek information relating to tax matters from the ATO or another expert advisor. The ATO website is also a good source for publications on tax matters, and the ASIC Money Smart website has good information on superannuation.

1.4 Employment conditions and remuneration matters

The Victorian Public Sector Commission (VPSC) provides advice on executive employment (excluding remuneration matters) to departments and agencies and publishes resources to support executives and employers.

This includes a standard contract for employing public service executives, the executive vehicle cost-to-package calculator and publications on a range of topics including work/life balance, codes of conduct, standards and governance.

The Victorian Independent Remuneration Tribunal (the Remuneration Tribunal) determines executive remuneration bands for public service executives and has issued guidelines on the placement of executives within remuneration bands.

The Department of Premier and Cabinet is responsible for whole-of-government executive workforce policy.

Table 1 provides an overview of the division of roles and responsibilities. If an executive is unsure whether they are employed as a public sector or public service executive, they should contact their employer.

Table 1: Roles and responsibilities for executive employment

Entity	Roles and responsibilities
Departments	Provide day-to-day advice and support on executive workforce matters across remuneration, classification, employment and performance.

1.5 Victorian Public Sector Commission

The VPSC plays a leadership role in building a public sector that delivers world-class services for the Victorian community.

The objectives of the VPSC are to strengthen the efficiency, effectiveness and capability of the public sector in order to meet existing and emerging needs and deliver high-quality services; and to maintain, and advocate for, public sector professionalism and integrity.
